Wage Subsidies and Trades

FireSpirit routinely works with government and industry to identify gaps in services or skilled labour shortages.

We apply for wage subsidies if necessary or coordinate training supports with local, federal, First Nation, and other training organizations to help you achieve your goals.

We work with local carpenters and contractors to link you with employers who are looking for skilled trades people.

We can help you understand how apprenticeship works if you are looking to challenge for your designation or begin a career in a trade.
